

“We Serve the People!”

The true feature of the Workers’ Party of Korea is that it exists for the people and struggles for their interests.

Chairman Kim Jong Il regarded it as his lifelong motto to formulate all lines and policies of the WPK to meet the demands and interests of the people and make everything serve them.

On New Year’s Day in 1990, he told the officials: Only when officials work faithfully for the people and enjoy their support and love, can they be called true Juche-type Party officials. Our Party officials’ slogan must be “We serve the people!”
