

A Factory of Utmost Concern to the Party

One April day in 2016, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited the newly-built Mindulle Notebook Factory.

Looking round the factory, he said with great satisfaction: The factory equipped with fully-automated production lines has great capacity. Now it is possible to fully satisfy the nationwide demand for notebooks.

After a while, he continued: It is a factory of utmost concern to the Party. The officials and other employees of the factory should produce a larger number of quality notebooks with maternal affection for our children and students so that they could feel keenly the Party's love for the rising generations.
